

Aluminum Alloy Cable Tray Profile Company

Article Overview

Leading manufacturers of aluminum alloy cable trays include EAE Electric, NewReach, ABB, MP Husky, and Powerack, offering lightweight, corrosion-resistant, and high-load cable management solutions.

Key Manufacturers and Their Offerings

EAE Electric provides aluminum cable trays and ladders designed for both indoor and outdoor applications. Their products are lightweight, corrosion-resistant, and capable of handling dense cable transitions. EAE emphasizes high thermal conductivity to prevent cable overheating, durability against environmental forces, and ease of installation, making them suitable for industrial and commercial facilities .

NewReach manufactures aluminum cable trays with high loading capacity and excellent corrosion resistance. Their trays are lightweight, non-magnetic, and designed to reduce electromagnetic interference, which is critical for data centers. NewReach offers trays made from durable aluminum alloys such as 6063, ensuring long-term performance in harsh environments. Their products also feature a 1.5 safety factor and can support additional concentrated loads, enhancing stability and safety .

ABB produces a wide range of cable tray systems, including perforated trays, cable ladders, and channel trays. ABB emphasizes adaptability, reliability, and ease of maintenance. Their facilities in Canada and Saudi Arabia allow for rapid response to...
