

Choose a purchase channel for core switches

Article Overview

Core switches can be purchased through manufacturer websites, authorized resellers, or specialized online networking stores, depending on your requirements for brand, support, and scalability.

Manufacturer Direct Channels

Buying directly from manufacturers ensures access to the latest models, official warranties, and technical support. Major vendors include:

- Cisco: Offers a wide range of core switches, including Catalyst and Nexus series, with tools like the Cisco Switch Selector to help identify the right model for your network needs . Direct purchase provides access to enterprise-grade support and software updates.
- Huawei: Provides high-capacity core switches like the CloudEngine S12700E series, suitable for large-scale networks with modular designs and high port density .
- NETGEAR: Offers fully managed switches with Layer 3+ features, ideal for small to medium enterprises, with options for PoE, VLAN, and QoS management .

Authorized Resellers and Online Stores

Resellers often provide competitive pricing, flexible purchasing options, and bundled services:...
