

Cost of Vibration Fiber Optic Cables in Canada

Article Overview

Vibration-resistant or armored fiber optic cables in Canada typically cost between CAD $1.50 to $8 per foot, depending on fiber type, strand count, and construction.

Pricing Overview

The cost of fiber optic cables varies based on fiber type, strand count, and cable construction. Standard single-mode fiber cables generally cost CAD $0.50 to $2 per foot, while multimode fiber ranges from CAD $1 to $3 per foot. For armored or vibration-resistant cables, which are designed for harsh environments or direct burial, prices increase to CAD $1.50 to $8 per foot, reflecting the additional protective layers and durability features (such as metal or reinforced jackets) required to withstand vibration and mechanical stress .

Factors Affecting Cost

- Fiber Type and Count: Single-mode fiber (OS2) is cheaper per foot than multimode fiber (OM3/OM4), but multimode supports higher bandwidth over shorter distances . Higher strand counts (e.g., 12, 24, 48, or 288 fibers) increase the cost proportionally.
- Cable Construction: Armored or vibration-resistant cables are more expensive than standard indoor riser-rated cables. Outdoor-rated, low-water-peak, or plenum-rated cables also add to the cost .
- Connectors and Pre-Termination: Pre-terminated assemblies, patch cables, or custom connectors (LC, SC, FC, ST) increase the price due to factory termination and testing
