

Does UAE Telecom have fiber optic internet

Article Overview

Yes, the UAE offers extensive fiber optic internet through major providers like Etisalat and du, with near-complete coverage across the country.

Availability and Coverage

The UAE has achieved global leadership in fiber-to-the-home (FTTH) coverage, reaching 99.5% of homes as of 2024, making it the top-ranked country worldwide for fiber connectivity . This extensive infrastructure supports high-speed internet for over 2.88 million homes, reflecting the country's commitment to digital transformation and smart city initiatives . Both Etisalat and du have heavily invested in fiber networks, ensuring reliable, high-bandwidth connectivity for residential and business users .

Providers and Services

- Etisalat: Offers fiber optic internet through its "FiberCity" initiative, covering nearly all urban areas. Their network supports ultra-fast speeds, low latency, and high reliability, suitable for streaming, gaming, and enterprise applications .
- du: Provides flexible fiber packages for homes and businesses, with speeds ranging from 1 Gbps to 10 Gbps, symmetrical upload and download speeds, and Wi-Fi included. du's fiber network is designed to handle multiple devices and bandwidth-intensive activities .
