

Outdoor unit distribution box price

Article Overview

The cost of an outdoor distribution box typically ranges from $300 to $6,000 depending on size, material, amperage, and installation complexity.

Price Range

- Small residential outdoor units: Basic weatherproof boxes can start around $300–$600, especially for single-phase systems with minimal circuits and plastic or standard steel enclosures .
- Mid-range units: For more robust outdoor boxes with metal enclosures, multiple circuits, and moderate amperage (100–200A), prices generally range from $1,000–$3,000, including standard installation .
- High-end or industrial units: Large, stainless steel, or customized outdoor distribution boxes with advanced features like smart monitoring, surge protection, or high amperage (200A+) can cost $3,000–$6,000 or more, particularly when installation involves complex wiring, permits, or structural modifications .

Factors Affecting Cost

- Material and Durability: Outdoor-rated boxes require weatherproof, corrosion-resistant materials such as powder-coated steel or stainless steel, which increases cost compared to indoor-rated plastic units .
- Amperage and Circuit Capacity: Higher amperage panels and more circuits require larger enclosures and more internal components, raising the price .
- Installation Complexity: Labor costs vary depending on accessibility, conduit routing, and whether a full panel upgrade or new meter socket is needed. Typical electrician rates range from $75–$120 per hour, with total labor for outdoor installat...
