

Protecting Chad

Overview

Chad, one of the world's poorest countries, faces low development, limited social services, and climate hazards. Humanitarian needs are soaring due to a mass influx of refugees and returning Chadians from Sudan, a protracted crisis in the Lake Province, and unprecedented food. Chad hosts people fleeing violence linked to insecurity and multiple attacks carried out in neighbouring countries including Cameroon, Nigeria and Niger in its western part, Sudan to the east, and the Central African Republic to the south. For about a decade, the country has also experienced. Chad: Climate Vulnerability Assessment In Barh-el-Gazal Province In Barh-El-Gazal, climate shocks are no longer isolated events; they are a persistent threat eroding livelihoods, food security, and resilience. Families are being decimated, villages are being burned, and tens of thousands of people are now living in fear and harsh conditions. The Chadian government must act now to end the violence, protect civilians and ensure justice for. N'Djamena - Judith Haltebaye, a midwife with 15 years of experience, has spent the past seven years serving at the Abena-Atetip Health Centre in central N'Djamena. Over the years, she has supported hundreds of women throughout their pregnancies and beyond.
