

South Asia Fiber Optic Cable Reeling Machine Price Quote

Article Overview

Fiber optic cable reeling machines in South Asia are available from ₹550,000 (~$6,600) upwards, depending on specifications, automation, and capacity.

Price Range and Suppliers

- Sant Engineering Industries, India offers cable reeling machines starting at ₹550,000, suitable for small to medium-sized wires and various cable types, including power, XLPE, and instrumentation cables. They provide single, double, and triple-layer extrusion lines, pneumatic pay-off and take-up systems, and turnkey solutions for South Asian exports such as Nepal, UAE, and Qatar (IndiaMart) .
- Changlan Factory provides power cable laying/reeling machines designed for 1-3 conductor cables with diameters from 1.5mm² to 35mm². These machines are electrically powered, robust, and suitable for underground engineering and telecommunications projects. Pricing is competitive and factory-direct, emphasizing cost-effectiveness without compromising quality (Alibaba) .
- Longterm Cable (China) manufactures automatic coiling and reeling machines for optical fiber and communication cables. These machines reduce labor costs and improve efficiency, with a one-year warranty and after-sales support. They specialize in optical fiber coloring, rewinding, secondary coating, and sheathing lines, making them suitable for large-scale fiber optic production (Made-in-China) .
- ReelPower RST Series offers stationary shaftless take-up machines for heavy-duty reeling and coiling of fiber optic cables. These machines are customizable, high-capacity, and designed for industrial-scale operations, providing safety, reliability, and efficiency for fiber optic manufacturing and handling (ReelPower)
