

Uzbekistan Integrated Container Rack High Density

Article Overview

High-density integrated container racking solutions in Uzbekistan optimize warehouse space, increase storage capacity, and support heavy-duty pallet loads.

Overview of High-Density Racking in Uzbekistan

High-density racking systems, such as drive-in or drive-through racks, are widely used in Uzbekistan to maximize storage efficiency in warehouses with limited floor space. These systems allow forklifts to enter the racking lanes, storing pallets in multiple deep rows, which significantly increases storage density compared to traditional selective racking .

Case Study: Tashkent Logistics Warehouse

A leading logistics company in Tashkent implemented a customized drive-in racking system to address space constraints and rising cargo volumes. Key features included:

- Warehouse Area: 1,200 m² with 8.5 m clear height
 - Storage Capacity: Increased by over 50%, accommodating at least 1,200 standard pallets
 - Load Capacity: Designed for 1,200 kg per pallet, with peak loads up to 1,500 kg
 - Cargo Types: Auto parts, light construction materials, and consumer goods
 - Operational Integration: Compatible with existing forklift operations and aligned with international safety standards
- This system improved operational efficiency, red...
