

West Asia Power Distribution Box Configuration Company

Article Overview

Several global manufacturers offer customized power distribution box solutions suitable for West Asia, including INDU-ELECTRIC, CSQ, DOHO, and SX Power Case.

Key Companies and Services

INDU-ELECTRIC provides tailored power distribution systems worldwide, offering customer-specific solutions for industrial, commercial, and utility applications. They support cross-industry configurations and can deliver products globally, making them suitable for West Asia projects. CSQ (Siqu Technology Co., Ltd.) specializes in low-voltage power distribution, industrial control, and solar photovoltaic systems. They offer fully customizable solutions, including automatic transfer switches, circuit breakers, and relays. CSQ emphasizes intelligent system integration, ISO-certified quality, and global project experience. DOHO Electric is a major manufacturer of distribution boxes in China, providing OEM/ODM services for international clients. They offer custom configurations, quality assurance, and warranty support, which can be adapted for West Asia installations. SX Power Case focuses on custom power distribution boxes and cable assemblies, particularly for stage, industrial, and commercial applications. They provide design consultation, rapid production, and configurable plug and voltage options, ensuring products meet specific project requirements.
