

Which companies in Central Asia sell fiber optic cables

Article Overview

Central Asia relies on both regional distributors and major international fiber optic cable manufacturers such as Prysmian Group, Corning, and YOFC to supply its telecommunications infrastructure.

Key International Manufacturers Serving Central Asia

While Central Asia has limited local production, several global fiber optic cable manufacturers have a presence or distribution networks in the region:

- Prysmian Group: Headquartered in Italy, Prysmian is the world's largest fiber optic cable manufacturer, offering optical fibers, fiber-optic cables, and connectivity solutions. They have extensive projects across Asia and often supply infrastructure for 5G networks and broadband expansion, which can include Central Asian countries like Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan, and Kyrgyzstan (Web result).
- Corning Incorporated: A US-based pioneer in optical fiber technology, Corning produces high-performance optical fibers and photonic components. Their products are widely used in Asia, and they collaborate with local telecom providers to deliver customized solutions suitable for Central Asian networks (Web result).
- YOFC (Yangtze Optical Fibre and Cable): A leading Chinese manufacturer, YOFC supplies single-mode and multi-mode fiber optic cables and has expanded its distribution across Asia, including Central Asia, supporting broadband and enterprise networks (Web result).
- Sterlite Technologies: An Indian company specializing in fiber optic cables and net...
